THE IMPORTANCE OF SELECTING MIAMI AS THE PERMANENT SECRETARIAT OF THE FREE TRADE AREA OF THE AMERICAS AND THE VITAL PROTECTION OF FLORIDA CITRUS

HON. ILEANA ROS-LEHTINEN

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, November 17, 2003

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, South Florida is honored, as leaders from over thirty nations from the Western Hemisphere convene in my beautiful hometown of Miami to discuss what is to be one of the largest free trade agreements in history.

The FTAA would be the world's largest free market, with combined GDP of nearly $13 trillion in over 30 countries, and nearly 800 million consumers. The creation of the FTAA would foster economic growth and opportunity, promote regional integration and good governance. In concert with my colleagues in the U.S. Congress, I have corresponded and met numerous times with Ambassadors Zoellick and Cobb to discuss at length the selection of Miami as the headquarters for the Secretariat.

Miami is a perfect location for the Secretariat due to its bustling economy, multilingual population and its role as the hub for Latin America.

I have supported efforts on behalf of Miami that involve the Permanent Secretariat of the Free Trade Area of the Americas; especially the most current appropriations of $8.5 million that will assist our local South Florida community.

Free trade cannot encompass nations that are dictatorial, ruthless, and that lack regard for freedom and human rights. Ruthless regimes cannot be allowed entry into any free trade agreements as they lack the fundamental premise for market-based trade to succeed freedom. Without a democratic system of government, free trade cannot flourish. Brutal dictatorships in our Hemisphere should not have access into any form of free trade agreements until they hold independent elections, free its political prisoners, allow freedom of press, and respect and upheld other basic liberties.

It is the hope of our South Florida community that the Administration will select Miami as the U.S. candidate city to serve as home to the FTAA Secretariat, when an agreement is completed. Miami's special and close relationship with our Latin neighbors make the city a natural choice to play this important role.

As leaders of the Western Hemisphere meet to discuss the vital issue of a tentative FTAA, it is important to remember our local citrus industry.

As we strive to open new markets and expand opportunities for U.S. workers and businesses through seeking new trade agreements, we must ensure that our workers and businesses have fair opportunities to compete in the increasingly global marketplace.

Any reduction of tariffs on imported orange juice would impede these important objectives. These tariffs help to promote competition, enabling us to compete on a level playing field in the global marketplace.

It is very clear that any reduction in the tariff would have serious consequences on Florida's citrus industry and could potentially devastate the State's economy. The citrus industry is the State's second largest, contributing over $9 billion to our economy. In addition, the citrus industry accounts for nearly 90,000 direct and indirect jobs throughout Florida and the country.

As delegates congregate in South Florida to discuss the future of trade in the Western Hemisphere, I call upon our leaders of the Hemisphere to not forget the hard workers of Florida and the importance of Florida Citrus.

Mr. OTTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize and praise the efforts of a group of women known across America as "Idaho's Ambassadors of Fun." They are the Red Hot Mamas—a family oriented musical-comedy troupe from Coeur d'Alene, ID. These are women in the prime of their lives, all over the age of 30, who revel in sharing their good humor and infectious high spirits. The ladies wear brightly colored house dresses and 5-foot-tall hats made from empty grocery cartons, milk jugs, balloons or other household items. They can be found most days in one parking lot or another in Coeur d'Alene, practicing their precision drill-team routines. The
